STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Police set up of the State needs to be reorganized and professionally equipped to meet the challenges of present times. The Government is also committed to provide quality police service to the citizens, particularly women, children, minorities and other disadvantaged sections of the society. A people friendly attitude needs to be inculcated amongst the police personnel.

The Hon'ble Supreme Court of India vide their order dt.27.9.2006 in writ petition (C) No.310/96 (Prakash Singh and Others Vrs. Union of India) had also issued directions for enactment of Police Acts by different States incorporating various guidelines for ensuring professional skills, quality policing and accountability.

The proposed legislation therefore aims at redefining the role of police, its duties and responsibilities, taking into account the emerging challenges of policing and security of the State, imperatives of good governance and respect for human rights and to enable the police to function as an efficient, effective, people friendly and a responsive organisation.

Presently, provisions of the Police Act, 1861 are being followed in case of recruitment, posting, disciplinary matters and other ancillary matters of the police personnel. Similarly, the provisions of the Odisha State Armed Police Act, 1946 are being followed in case of enrolment and discharge, disciplinary matters and other ancillary matters of armed police force. By enacting the present legislation, the matters provided in these two Acts will be compiled together in a single new law, the Director General of Police being the head of the police force.

The Bill seeks to achieve the above objectives.
